BAD! BAD!! BAD!!!

Bad blood comes from bad digestion—bad stomach, bad liver, bad kidneys—attended with bad, foul breath, coated tongue, bad taste, bad headaches, bad appetite and kindred symptoms. Bad as these all are, and serious as are the diseases to which they lead, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery comes to the relief and cure of all these by regulating and invigorating STOMACH, LIVER, BOWELS and KIDNEYS, and putting all these organs in good order.

"Golden Medical Discovery" contains no alcohol, opium or other harmful drugs; neither does it contain sugar or syrup, which are injurious to some stomachs. Without any of these it retains its pleasant taste and marvelous healing qualities in the most trying climate. Don't let a selfish medicine seller cheat you out of your health by giving you a substitute. He's only looking out for a larger profit, not for your good. Shun him. Honest, unselfish dealers recommend the "Golden Medical Discovery."

"That your remedies are not for the few, but for the many is evident, for I personally know of many scores of persons in this city who have been restored to health and strength by your medicines," thus writes Henry Landsheft, Esq., Alderman in 17th Ward, Buffalo, N. Y., of 1204 Jefferson Street. "I know that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is most valuable in cases of derangement of the liver, having taken the medicine some two years ago when I had a bad attack of liver trouble, and I never used a medicine before that did me so much good. I have known Dr. Pierce for twenty-six years, and do not wonder at his success, for he is a physician and man of sterling qualities, is possessed of extraordinary skill, and he has in his Sanitarium a corps of Specialists who are chosen because of their unusual knowledge and professional skill."

If suffering from any obstinate, lingering ailment, write to Dr. Pierce and get, free of charge, sound medical advice. He has the counsel and assistance of a large staff of expert specialists.

The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, by R. V. Pierce, M. D., Chief Consulting Physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y. Paper-bound FREE on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps for mailing only; or cloth-bound for 31 cents. Address the Author, as above.

YOUR HAT

May Be a Stylish One, But It Makes Trouble.

A man usually buys a hat that's "in style," but the modern hat for men has lots to answer for.

Baldheads are growing more numerous every day. Hats make excellent breeding places for the parasitic germs which sap the life from the roots of the hair.

When your hair begins to fall out and your scalp is full of Dandruff it is a sure sign that these countless germs are busily at work.

There is but one way to overcome the trouble and kill the germs—that way is to apply Newbro's Herpicide to the scalp—it will kill the germs and healthy hair is sure to result.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

RED FLAG IN NEW YORK.

City Hall Park, New York, was the scene of disorder and excitement yesterday afternoon.

The turmoil began with the erection of a campaign banner which bore the red flag of anarchy and the Stars and Stripes. The flags were each grasped by a hand, the red flag bearing the name of Hearst and the American flag that of McClellan. Running along the bottom border of the banner was the inscription, "Under Which Flag?"

No sooner had the banner been stretched between the statue of Benjamin Franklin and City Hall Park than hundreds of loiterers in the neighborhood gathered around the statue, which is immediately in front of the office of Mr. Hearst's German paper, the Morgen Journal. With cries for the leader of the municipal ownership issue, more than 1,000 persons gathered to listen to speeches by volunteers.

Tammany was scored for erecting the banner, and at each mention of Hearst's name there were cheers. While the excitement was at its height some one in the crowd called for volunteers to tear down the banner. This was greeted by a shout of approval, and William Houston, a blacksmith in the Brooklyn navy yard, began to climb the pole.

At this point Roundsman Conlin, of the City Hall station, with 15 policemen arrived, and the crowd was scattered. Policeman James Sullivan shouted for Houston to come down, but the man kept on.

"If you can climb, so can I," said Sullivan, and, like a squirrel, he began to go up the staff, which swayed dangerously under the weight of the two men. Houston had a knife between his teeth with which he expected to slash the ropes and let the banner to the street. He saw the policemen was in earnest, however, and started back to earth, where he was arrested. Houston was taken to the Tombs Police Court and arraigned before Magistrate Wahle, who reprimand and discharged him.

Following the arrest of Houston an attempt was made by fully 2,000 persons to storm the City Hall. There were many innocent persons in the crowd who were swept along by several hundred young men and boys. A few of them were daring enough to enter the corridors, but were promptly chased to the steps by a janitor with a broom.

The men and boys stood for several minutes upon the steps, shouting for Mayor McClellan to come out. There was no semblance of order, although the leaders said they were there to enter protest against the erection of the banner, which they said was an insult to the American flag.

"Hurrah for Hearst!" yelled a small boy, and a yell was given by a majority of the crowd.

"McClellan!" the cry continued, but the mayor was at luncheon.

The reserves from the Third, Fifth and Sixth precincts soon had the crowd scattered.

Later, when a man who said that he was acting under orders, removed the obnoxious banner, police reserves were again called out to prevent a crowd from destroying it. It was announced that a regular campaign banner would be displayed in its place.

Rector Appointed Mayor.

Through an order issued by Judge Harrison in the Circuit Court at Winchester, it is developed that the town of Middletown, Frederick county, has had no mayor, town councilmen or other town officers for at least six years, and no taxes have been collected in that time. This condition of affairs is the outcome of the wholesale burning of property some years ago, for complicity in which former Mayor David E. Edmondson was indicted, a woman figuring prominently in the trials. Edmondson was acquitted in court at Winchester.

Judge Harrison yesterday signed an order appointing as mayor Rev. F. Leslie Robinson, who is a native of England and rector of the Protestant Episcopal Church at Middletown. James H. Light is appointed town sergeant, and seven councilmen are named. All are required to qualify for office within the next 30 days. Former Mayor Edmondson obtained a judgment for a small amount against the corporation of Middletown, and in order to enforce the payment of the debt he had to secure a writ of mandamus from Judge Harrison, requiring the collection of taxes. These taxes, it is said, have never be collected, and the debt is yet unpaid.

During the past six years several men have been elected as mayor of Middletown but in every instance they have declined to serve. In the meantime pretenders to the office have arisen, but their orders have not been obeyed, and by the majority of the people of the town they have been looked upon with disfavor. With the appointment of Rev. Mr. Robinson as mayor and the other officers it is expected that the tangled condition of Middletown municipal affairs will be straightened out.

The town is next in size to Winchester and is beautifully situated in the Shenandoah Valley. Its population numbers over two thousand.

Mr. Robinson, the newly appointed mayor, is a graduate of an English university and of the Theological seminary at Alexandria, Va. Mr. Robinson teaches biblical literature in the Episcopal Female Institute at Winchester. He will assume office this week at Middletown.

Insomnia and Indigestion Cured.

'Last year I had a very severe attack of indigestion. I could not sleep at night and suffered most excruciating pains for three hours after each meal. I was troubled this way for about three months when I used Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, and received immediate relief," says John Dixon, Tullamore, Ontario, Canada. For sale by Gibson & Timberman and W. F. Creighton & Co.

But Few Are Free.

But few people are entirely free from indigestion at this season of the year. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure is not only the best remedy to use because it digests what you eat but because it also enables the digestive apparatus to assimilate and transform all foods into tissue-building blood. Kodol relieves sour stomach, heart burn, belching, and all forms of Indigestion. Sold by W. F. Creighton & Co., 401 King street.

Terrific Race With Death.

"Death was fast approaching," writes Ralph F. Fernandez, of Tampa, Fla., describing his fearful race with death, "as a result of liver trouble and heart disease, which had robbed me of sleep and of all interest in life. I had tried many different doctors and several medicines, but got no benefit, until I began to use Electric Bitters. So wonderful was their effect, that in three days I felt like a new man, and today I am cured of all my troubles." Guaranteed at E. S. Leadbeater & Sons' drug store; price 50c.

Thankful are They Who Escape The Surgeon's Knife

Thousands of surgical operations are performed every year in our great city hospitals upon women afflicted with serious female troubles. Sometimes the operations are successful—oftentimes they are not.

It is safe to say that certainly nine out of ten operations for female troubles might have been wholly avoided.

The most valuable tonic and re-builder of the female organism, the medicine with a record of thousands of cases literally snatched from the operating table, is

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Do not consent to an operation which may mean death until after you have given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial. Note what it did for Mrs. Paul Oliver, whose letter follows:

DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I was suffering from pains in my side and womb. The doctors said to get well I must have an operation performed, but I would not consent to that.

I heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and sent for a bottle; the first dose did me good, and after taking the first bottle I could sleep all right and I did not have those pains around my womb which I had all the time before. Now I can ride ten miles in a carriage, my color has returned, and I am full of life. I owe all this to the Vegetable Compound.

It has also done wonders for my thirteen-year-old daughter. I will never cease to praise it and recommend it to my friends.

MRS. PAUL OLIVER, St. Martinsville, La.

Thousands of women, residing in every city and town in the United States, bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It cures female ills and creates radiant, buoyant female health. For your own sake try it.

Alexandria Gazette
SIC SEMPER TYRANNIS
AND VIRGINIA ADVERTISER

WEDNESDAY EVENING. NOV. 1, 1905.

A LARGE CROWD, including many democrats and numbers from Washington city, gathered at the Opera House last night to listen to the speech of Hon. Leslie M. Shaw, Secretary of the Treasury. In the audience was a sprinkling of ladies, and the galleries were filled with colored people. Mr. Shaw was sandwiched in the programme with Mr. R. W. Blair, who was to precede him, and Mr. J. B. Henderson, of Alexandria county, who is aspiring to legislative honors, was to follow the Secretary. Mr. Blair's speech was brief, as was also that of Mr. W. J. Shelley, who introduced him, while Mr. Henderson made no attempt to speak after Mr. Shaw had entertained his audience for about two hours. In fact the Secretary was the central luminary, and, as might have been expected, cast those on both sides of him into an eclipse. Mr. Blair in the short time he spoke labored hard to create an issue on free school books and cast aspersions on the present electoral boards of the State. His remarks seemed to impress no one. When Mr. Shaw was announced there was applause, and for two hours he labored to make the principle of protective tariff plain and acceptable to his hearers. He occasionally quoted from Æsop's fables and made some pleasant comparisons. He seemed to strike a snag, however, when he ran against the Philippine Islands, acknowledging that he did not know what to do with them and asked his audience if they had any suggestions to make. He had improvised a parable to portray the predicament into which the country was forced by the acquisition of these possessions in the antipodes. He represented Uncle Sam as hearing the cry of "murder" from a nearby residence (Cuba) nearly every night until he finally put on his hat and coat and went to his neighbor's relief; but Uncle Sam, unfortunately, returned with a refractory infant (the Philippines) in his arms. He could not give it away, nor sell it, and there was but one recourse—he had to adopt it—and at times to chastise it. What sort of a specimen of the genus homo the infant may produce remains to be seen. This allegory is well conceived, and plainly sets forth the facts in connection with that unfortunate enterprise. A princess many years ago picked up a foundling in the river Nile who eventually gave the Pharaohs no little trouble. The Secretary's reference to fables brings to mind others said to have been written by Æsop. There was a countryman who found a frozen snake which he warmed into life. The result is known to all schoolboys. It may be applicable to the United States in years to come when we will be dodging the fangs of Cubans, Porto Ricans and the Filipinos. Mr. Shaw dwelt long on the assertion that the democratic party was ever looking for issues. It should have occurred to him that his party is now engaged in such fruitless work in Virginia. He may secure the republican delegates from this State in the national convention for President, but the ticket in the Old Dominion is about to be buried in another black frost.

JUDGE LEWIS, republican candidate for governor, in his Norfolk speech Monday night, told his hearers that Virginia would never amount to anything until her vote was given to the republicans, because the republican administration was not going to hand out favors where the sentiment was against it, and added:

Take the navy yard here; it is larger than the yard at Brooklyn and Portsmouth, N. H., and yet these yards get three times as much work as the Norfolk navy yard, because Virginia no longer represents what she did and you are suffering in consequence. Then again you ask why it is that a republican President does not come to Virginia for a Supreme Court judge, a Cabinet officer and a minister. I'll tell you why, because a republican President is not going to select these officers from a State whose vote is against him.

And this from a Virginian, a man who boasts upon the hustings of his blood, lineage and high principles, but who would now, to curry favor with the republican administration, have his people sell their principles and surrender their convictions for a mess of pottage so that he and a few of his friends might secure a public office.

IN A SPEECH in Norfolk Monday night in the interest of his candidacy for the governorship of Virginia, Judge L. L. Lewis declared that Virginia had lost her prestige as a State by remaining in the democratic column and expressed the belief that with a fair count on next Tuesday night, the republicans would carry the day. This is the old cry of fraud that Judge Lewis sets up to bring reproach upon his own State, when he knows full well that the republicans have not a ghost of a chance of winning the election. This is in line with Judge Lewis when he urged the sending of federal soldiers into the State to control elections in reconstruction times.

AMICABLE relations were re-established between the Fall River, Mass., cotton manufacturers and the textile council at a protracted conference on Monday between representatives of the mill owners and operatives. A compromise agreement on the wage issue, which for several years has frequently disturbed industrial conditions there, was arranged, and in consequence of the understanding it is the general opinion that not only will a strike of 200,000 operatives be averted, but that the wage question will be adjusted for at least a year. This is gratifying information and it is hoped that the good feeling between the employe and the employers will now continue and that Fall River will thus be saved from such another ordeal as that city passed through last year.

SECRETARY SHAW must have thought he was speaking to a gullible audience in Alexandria last night, when, in speaking of the tariff question, he said that not a man within the sound of his voice, unless he used tobacco and liquor, paid more than fifty cents a year to the support of the general government. Why there was not a man present, if he wore a two dollar hat, who did not pay more than that on that one article, to say nothing of what he pays on his clothing, shoes, food and medicine.

THE "restored" friendly relations between the athletic associations of the University of Virginia and of Georgetown University have been severed again and in consequence there will probably be no football game between the teams of the two associations this fall. This should be gratifying information to the fathers of the youngsters, who pay for the education of their sons, for the latter may now be induced to devote a part of the football time to their studies. But will they?

MR. R. W. BLAIR, a clerk in the U. S. Internal Revenue office in Virginia, continues to absent himself from his office to make political speeches, though the civil service rules require such clerks to stick close to their desks and let politics alone.

From Washington.

Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 1.

President Roosevelt was informed that Czar Nicholas would grant his subjects freedom more than half a week before the news was given to the world. On the night of October 26, just before the President left New Orleans to board the boat that was to take him to the cruiser West Virginia, he received a cipher dispatch from a high official in the State Department which outlined the programme precisely as it was carried out in St. Petersburg on the 30th inst. The President at once sent a reply to the author of the message expressing his intense gratification over the good news, and voicing the hope that the move would result in lasting happiness and prosperity for the Russian people. Since the publication of the Czar's orders the President has given his views on the subject to a number of persons, and to all of them has expressed the belief that the Russians will use their liberty wisely and sanely and will make great strides from this time on in the arts and sciences of civilization.

A report by lighthouse officials aboard the Magnolia when that vessel, with President Roosevelt aboard, collided with the fruit steamer Esparta, has been submitted to the lighthouse board in this city. All blame for the collision is laid on the Esparta, it is understood. It denies that there was any neglect or questionable act on on the part of officers aboard the Magnolia. In case a State pilot was aboard the commission of pilots of the State of Louisiana will have charge of the investigation as to the responsibility for the collision.

The Interstate Commerce Commission today, in the case of the City Gas Company of Norfolk, Va., against the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, held that the latter has been guilty of unjust discrimination in rates. Its rates on coal from Pennsylvania mines to Baltimore and intended for points on Chesapeake Bay inside the Capes are materially less than on coal to Baltimore destined for Norfolk. The Commission decides that this practice tends to suppress competition and constitutes a wrongful prejudice against Norfolk.

The Navy Department at noon today received an official dispatch from Annapolis reporting the arrival there of Prince Louis of Battenburg and his squadron.

It is quite likely that the French government will feel itself called upon to take forcible measures in the near future against Venezuela in order to compel the Castro government to recognize the diplomatic rights and prerogatives of M. Taigney, the French charge d'affairs in Caracas. Ambassador Jesserand, the French representative here, had a long conference last night with President Roosevelt on the controversy between his government and that of Venezuela. He informed the President that the French government is not at all satisfied with the attitude of President Castro in the matter and, it is understood, discussed with him possible measures to be taken by France in case that attitude was maintained. It is said, that if France shall deem it necessary to exercise force towards Venezuela in order to maintain her injured honor, the United States will not intervene to save Castro from any punishment that France may be able to inflict.

The header in a 650 horse-power Babcock and Wilcox boiler blew out in the main power house of the Washington Railway and Electric Railway Company, at Fourteenth and Bstreets northwest about 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. One colored man was scalded to death, it was reported just after the accident, and three others were carried to the Emergency Hospital, horribly scalded and injured by flying missives. Electric lights in the down town section of the city were cut off and cannot be turned on again, it is said, for several hours. Nearly all the street cars of the company, such as the F street line, were tied up. Later another dead man was taken from the building.

According to unofficial information that has trickled through to Washington from the Philippines, U. S. Minister Rockhill, at Pekin, made himself decidedly unpopular with the party that accompanied Miss Roosevelt to the Chinese capital. It is stated that members of the party interviewed in Manila after their return were practically unanimous in their censure of the minister. As a result, Mr. Rockhill's friends here are not a little perturbed, being fearful that if the stories are true they may result in his recall. Among the things that the party objected to was the fact that out of forty-two persons selected for presentation at court, eleven were from the minister's own household. It is stated also that the minister in making up the list omitted the vice-Governor of the Philippines, and the chief quartermaster of the Philippines who had charge of all the transportation arrangements of the party. Another specification is that the Minister failed to give a reception at his legation for the party, and that with one or two exceptions he failed to repay the official calls made upon him by its members. It is said that Admiral Train delayed his departure from Pekin, waiting in vain for a return of his call upon the minister.

Truman H. Newberry, of Detroit, took the oath of office as Assistant Secretary of the Navy this morning. Judge Darling, the retiring assistant secretary, was present and following the ceremony assisted Mr. Newberry in a reception to the naval officers, officials and clerks on duty in the department. Judge Darling leaves tonight for his home in Burlington, Vt., where he is to be collector of the port. No sooner had Mr. Newberry become an officer of the government than he found himself acting secretary of the navy. Secretary Bonaparte speaks tonight at Cumberland, Md., in the republican State campaign, and his absence from the department threw the burden of official responsibility on Assistant Secretary Newberry's shoulders.

While, it is said, being under the influence of liquor, George W. Riston left a Hallowe'en party at 902 Sixth street southwest, last night, and, going to the bathroom, shot himself throught the right temple dying almost instantly. His friends insist that it was accidental, but circumstances point to self-destruction.

People who were leaving the theatres about 11 o'clock last night were given some excitement in watching a fire which broke out in Catlin's brass plating place at 403-405 Thirteenth street. The damage was about $2,000. For a time it looked like there might be a serious conflagration.

President Roosevelt this morning held a continuous reception with Senators, Cabinet members, and Representatives, most of whom called to congratulate him upon his safe return from the south and the splendid ovations he received at every stop on his tour. "The people of the northwest are just as anxious as ever to secure rate legislation," said Mr. Tawney, but there is not as much agitation on the surface."

I. H. Anderson, the wealthiest colored man in Jackson, Tenn., has made application to the President to succeed James Jeffries as Surveyor of Customs at Memphis. Anderson has the indorsement of Booker T. Washington.

News of the Day.

Walter Scott, the Death Valley miner who paid for a record run on the Santa Fe Railroad, was seriously injured yesterday in an automobile accident near his home, in Los Angeles, Cal.

At a meeting of the Isthmian Canal Commission in Washington yesterday the resignation of Col. Clarence R. Edwards, chief of the office of administration, was accepted. Too busy on insular work is the reason given as the cause of his abandonment of the position, though it is said he was the cause of friction existing between Chairman Shonts and Secretary Taft.

The report that Rear Admiral C. J. Train, commanding the American naval force on the Asiatic station, and his son, Lieut. C. R. Train, commanding the gunboat Quiros, had been attacked by a mob near Nanking, China, has been confirmed, but such prompt measures of redress were taken by the Chinese authorities that the incident may be regarded as amicably and satisfactorily closed.

As stated yesterday the President has appointed Charles A. Stillings, of Boston, as public printer. Mr. Stillings is manager of the Printers' Board of Trade of New York City. The large printing firms of New York and Boston indorsed him as a practical printer and executive. Mr. Stillings was connected with a Boston printing house for some years and was once secretary of the Typothæte of Washington.

Mrs. Amanda Mackall, daughter of Col. John Hancock and sister of Winfield Scott Hancock, now in jail at Upper Marlboro, Md., in connection with the death of Miss Emma Smallwood, and herself held by the coroner's jury to have been cognizant of and an accessory to the act alleged to have caused the death of the woman, was in Upper Marlboro yesterday accompanied by her brother-in-law, Lieutenant Colonel B. R. Russell, United States Marine Corps; her sister, Mrs. Russell; her cousin, Miss Mary Cooke, and her attorneys, Robert W. Wells and James C. Rogers, for the purpose of giving bond for her appearance at the April term of court. Mrs. Mackall gave bond, with Dr. Charles A. Wells, of Hyattsville, and Richard N. Lyon, of Upper Marlboro, as sureties, in the sum of $5,000.

Senator Martin's Forecast

Senator Thomas S. Martin, who has been assigned for work at democratic headquarters in Richmond for the rest of the campaign, last night gave out an interview in which he stated that more work and better work has been done by the democrats this year than in many years past, and that the party is well organized and in good trim for the conflict on November 7. There are no issues on which the democrats are divided, the junior Senator says, and the ticket commands the confidence and respect of the people.

Senator Martin states that the memories of the difficulties and trials through which the old Commonwealth has passed, which have been revived by a discussion of the political record of Judge L. L. Lewis, the republican nominee for governor, will not fail to arouse the militant spirit of the party and bring all loyal democrats to the polls. He is of the opinion that the taxpayers of the State will not fail to put the stamp of disapproval on the attempts made by the republican platform to hoodwink them with the promise of free schoolbooks.

Senator Martin assumes that Mr. Swanson will receive the vote cast in the August primary, 88,206, and concedes to Judge Lewis as large a vote as was cast for Roosevelt last year, 47,880, which will give Swanson a majority of 35,326 in a total of 131,086.

An entire block in the business section of Pensacola, Fla., was swept by fire today. Fortunately no lives were lost, although many persons had narrow escapes. The loss is estimated at $300,000.

SCENES IN RUSSIA.

With the red flag of anarchy and revolution as their symbol, the Russian masses hold the streets of St. Petersburg and clamor for greater liberties.

The political strikes are still on and the leaders now demand that General Trepoff be deposed.

They also want general amnesty and the creation of a national militia.

Premier Witte is said to be preparing a proclamation of amnesty.

Constantine Petrovitch Pobiedonostseff, procurator of the Holy Synod and one of the Czar's chief advisers in despotic rule, has resigned.

The shedding of blood continues. At Lodz, Russian Poland, troops fired on the mobs, killing five persons and wounding 16.

Odessa is in the hands of mobs, the police and some of the troops abetting the revolutionists.

The Poles are demanding self-government.

A big demonstration was organized by students and workmen in St. Petersburg yesterday. A great procession was formed. Starting from the university 10,000 strong it increased in number as the demonstrators marched across the river and up the Nevsky Prospect as far as the Kazan Cathedral singing the "Marseillaise." A dozen red banners inscribed with the word "Svoboda" (liberty) were carried at the head of the parade, which stopped at the places where the troops fired on the people January 22, and the paraders with bared heads chanted funeral dirges. The crowds in the streets uncovered their heads as the processton passed.

At the Kazan Cathedral the procession countermarched to the university, where from the balconies students harranged the crowds with fiery speeches, urging the people not to cease the struggle until every right of man had been attained. In the midst of the oratory intense enthusiasm was created by a student who scaled the roof of the university and attached a red flag to the cross over the entrance.

The following is a sample of the inflamatory speeches:

"You must go to the prisons and liberate your comrades. Go armed with revolvers, dynamite and bombs. Trepoff is still in power. Our watchword must be that all the troops must be withdrawn from St. Petersburg and leave the capital in our possession.

"That bloody scoundrel Trepoff must be driven out of Russia. The doors of the bastile and of the fortresses must be opened and a national guard must be created for the protection of our liberties. It would be fatal to stop now The emperor has yielded because he is not sure of the army, which, brothers, is with us. The swords are on our side! Hurrah for liberty! Hurrah for socialism!"

Counter demonstrations took place on the palace square, where several thousands of people bearing white flags knelt on the cobblestones and sang "God Save the Emperor," and prayed for the emperor.

As the afternoon advanced the crowds became more unruly, and there seemed to be momentary danger of great disorders. The workmen all over the city left their work and drifted to the center of the city, massing before the Kazan Cathedral.

Fully 100,000 persons gathered in the great square, completely filling the space between the spreading colonnades of the cathedral, whose wings, like St. Peter's at Rome, stretch out like arms on either side. The spectacle was impressive. In the gathering gloom the red banners, massed behind speakers on the cathedral steps, seemed like splashes of blood against the gray, cold, imposing edifice.

The orators were mostly students and workmen. Their appeals kindled the wildest enthusiasm in the crowds, which included hundreds of women and girl students. The oratory continued for hours, and while it was in progress a procession was formed, with students at its head, bearing red flags. A cry was set up of "To the Bastile!" and the procession started in that direction.

Preparations had been made against attempts to storm the political prison, termed the Bastile, and all the afternoon two companies of the Semenoffsky regiment and four squadrons of hussars were drawn up on Shpalennia street, with ample reserves inside.

The leaders of the procession, however, had already been advised that Count Witte had announced that an amnesty proclamation was being prepared, and led the procession to the Nevsky Prospect and to the Nicholas station, followed by an immense crowd, all singing and shouting.

Complete darkness had settled down before their return. At the Kazan Cathedral the procession was joined by the thousands there, and singing the "Marseillaise" and shouting for a constituent assembly, the human tide, now composed of fully 200,000 persons, swept down the avenue and across the palace bridge to the university in the Vasili Ostrov district.

The shopkeepers and the better classes of people became panic-stricken, fearing that the mob would get control of the city. The stores were closed and people fled to their homes. The Nevsky Prospect and other streets were boarded up from end to end as a precaution against possible pillage.

Some Seasonable Advice.

It may be a piece of superfluous advice to urge people at this season of the year to lay in a supply of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is almost sure to be needed before winter is over, and much more prompt and satisfactory results are obtained when taken as soon as a cold is contracted and before it has become settled in the system, which can only be done by keeping the remedy at hand. This remedy is so widely known and so altogether good that no one should hesitate about buying it in preference to any other. It is for sale by Gibson & Timberman and W. F. Creighton & Co.

THE TURBULENCE IN RUSSIA.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 1.—Last night was one long scene of turbulence, although no reports of bloodshed have yet been received. There was speechmaking at almost every corner, the impromptu orators indulging in violent attacks upon the Czar and the whole government. The speakers demanded the abolition of all titles and class distinctions, and the establishment of a purely democratic regime with a constitutional assembly and a citizen militia. The revolutionaries paraded the streets all night long.

An attempt was made to organize counter demonstrations in support of the Czar by moderates, but they did not succeed. Processions headed by national flags were formed and started through the Nevsky Prospect, the marchers singing "God Save the Czar."

The revolutionaries, however, blocked the way of these processions, shouting insulting epithets at the men in line. A collision seemed inevitable, but just at the moment when it seemed that the clash must come, the moderates broke ranks and fled in terror. The whole city was filled throughout the night with a fearful din, and sleep was impossible.

The situation today undoubtedly is dangerous. All that is needed is a Robespierre or a Marat to assume the leadership to inflame the mob into a mad, destructive horde bent on drenching the city with blood. The workingmen seem crazed with what they have already gained, and apparently believe that if they can only exert a little more pressure the millenium will arrive.

The Czar has issued instructions that all ladies connected with the court, or having entree to the court, as well as all officers of the guard and navy officers living in St. Petersburg, shall attend the Thanksgiving service to be held this afternoon to commemorate the publication of the manifesto.

M. Glassoff, Minister of Public Instruction in the Cabinet which will soon be superceded by the new ministry of Count Witte, has resigned. He was one of the leading reactionaries and will not serve under the new liberal regime.

Troops are on guard everywhere again today. The university was surrounded by soldiers and this led to a clash with the students. The latter attempted to hold a demonstration and the troops tried to prevent this. The clash which followed was accompanied by many casualties.

General Trepoff has issued another warning to the people, notifying them that as encounters between the people and the soldiers occurred yesterday, orders have been given to the troops to suppress all disturbances by the most vigorous means.

A driving sleet began falling about 2:30 o'clock and this did more to preserve order in the city than all the soldiers. The workingmen who had been thronging the streets were driven indoors and the demonstrations came to a stop for the time being.

The strike leaders have instructed their followers to abstain from working until a general amnesty isdecreed. The radicals have issued a statement which says: "The government is composed of cowards and we have no faith in their promises. We have already won a victory and shall continue the struggle for universal suffrage and a constitutional assembly. We are supported by 5,000,000 workers, the whole navy and quarter of the army. Pay no attention to the government's promises. The Czar has proved unworthy of our respect."

Odessa, Nov. 1.—Fighting occurred during the night on the outskirts of the town. A mob, incited by the police, attacked the Jews, and it is reported that hundreds were killed and wounded. It is impossible to get accurate detailed information in regard to the troubles, however, owing to the reticence of the authorities. A huge crowd is now collecting at the port preparatory to a march through the city and the mob threatens to kill all the Jews. Shops are closed, and windows and doors are barricaded. The situation is more serious than it has been since the beginning of the strike. The Jews are panic stricken through their fear of the police, because they believe that the soldiers will not protect them. Conservative citizens are urging the leaders of the workingmen to restrain their followers, fearing that if the mob ever gets beyond control, the revolution will assume the bloody features of the French commune and that liberty will only be secured after a long reign of terror.

A semi-official estimate of the casualties in the attack made on the Jews is 37 killed and 81 wounded.

Isolated conflicts between the people and the troops and between revolutionists and students have been of constant occurrence today. Most of the clashes were brought on by attacks of revolutionists on students. Firing has marked these fights, and it is estimated that fully 100 persons have been killed.

Students today formed a civil guard and have been trying to hold the workingmen who have attacked them in check. Both sides have fired frequently on their enemies and many desperate hand to hand conflicts have occurred. In many cases the students were overpowered. Dead bodies are lying everywhere in the streets. In addition to 100 persons killed, it is believed that 500 were wounded.

The local civil and military authorities are doing little to prevent the conflicts between the students and workingmen.

Odessa, Nov. 1. 10 p. m.—Anarchy continues here. A mob of roughs in wild disorder is sacking shops, throwing bombs and killing and beating Jews

Warsaw, Nov. 1st.—The employees of the Vienna Railway tried to organize a meetlng this morning, but the workmen were dispersed by soldiers, who used their bayonets in making them leave the place chosen for the meeting. The crowd then gathered about the station in Marsgalkowska street. A patrol was stretched across the street and the soldiers fired several volleys into the crowd killing and wounding many. Cavalry also charged upon the workingmen, clearing the street and sidewalks. Many innocent sightseers who had gathered on the sidewalks were run down by the horses.

Berlin, Nov. 1.—The Berlin branch of the Russian revolutionary party received information stating that 400 persons have been killed in the street fighting at Kharkoff, since the proclamation of the Czar's manifesto

Mr. Ellyson Confident.

[Special Dispatch to the Alexandria Gazette.]

Richmond, Va., Nov. 1.—Chairman Ellyson gave out an interview today in which he takes a rosy view of the political situation. He said: "Reports that have come in to me from all sections of the State in the past few days show that the situation is greatly improved and I now believe our people will turn out in sufficient numbers to make our success a certainty, and by a handsome majority. There never has been any trouble save apathy among the democrats and that is now being rapidly dispelled."

The Anarchy Banner.

New York, Nov. 1.—The "Anarchy Banner" raised by Tammany Hall yesterday on Park Row, as an attack on William R. Hearst, which nearly caused a riot, was taken down last night. Mayor McClellan ordered it down, and Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany, said it was a mistake. The resentment caused by swinging the red flag and the stars and stripes from the same halyard was bitter. The candidates whirled over the city again last night, making speeches to enthusiastic audiences. Mayor McClellan spoke on Staten Island, and later at Grand Central Palace, and the Star Casino in Harlem. William R. Hearst spoke at a large meeting at Carnegie Hall, at Murray Hill Lyceum, and then made a dash through Queens county. Wm. M. Ivins made another whirlwind tour of Manhattan, speaking at five meetings which were crowded with supporters of the republican nominee for mayor. District Attorney Jerome addressed two meetings both on the East Side. He continued to hammer against boss rule.

Assaulted by Young Thug.

Philadelphia, Nov. 1.—Set upon by a young thug while on her way home, last night, a prominent and respectable married woman of west Philadelphia was knocked down, dragged out upon a dark vacant lot and there repeatedly assaulted. She screamed when attacked but no policeman was in the neighborhood and not until some time after the assault had been consummated that the woman was able to make her way from the lot, find a patrolman and report the outrage. Wm. Mckinley, aged 19 years, was later arrested charged with the crime. The arrested youth was taken before Magis-Harris, after his victim had fully identified him, and was held without bail for court to answer the charge of criminal assault. The case is one of many similar ones, which have occurred in the west Philadelphia section.

Murder Charged.

New York, Nov. 1.—Coroner Scholer received an official request today from Coroner Dugan of Philadelphia, to make and investigation from the time Mrs. Magaretta Todd left her apartments in the von Hoffman, on west 29th street, until she boarded a train for Philadelphia. A request was also made that the woman's stomach be opened for purposes of determining whether it contains any poisonous drug. The coroner also received an anonymous communication signed "Justice," which read as follows: "Mrs. Margaretta Todd was murdered. She did not meet death by accident. The crime was plotted in New York City and carried out in Philadelphia, to which city she was lured by two men, one the plotter, and the other the executioner, and one woman, the decoy, was engaged in the scheme."

Prince Louis's Squadron.

Norfolk, Va., Nov. 1.—The British squadron of six vessels under command of Rear Admiral Prince Louis of Battenburg, passed in the Virginia capes at 2:15 this morning.

Annapolis, Md., Nov. 1.—After a pleasant though uneventful voyage on the Atlantic coast, his Serene Highness Prince Louis Alexander of Battenburg, commander of a British squadron, composed of four vessels with the Drake as his flagship, reached Annapolis today and is to spend one week as the guest of the officials of the naval academy there and in Washington.

Newmarket Races.

Newmarket, Eng., Nov. 1.—The Cambridgeshire stakes handicap for three years olds and upwards, was won today by Velocity, with Templeton up. Santry, ridden by Dillon, was second; and Dead Swift, with Davis up, was third. Eighteen horses ran. The prices in the betting ring were: Velocity, 7 to 2; Santry, 40 to 1 and Dean Swift, 50 to 1.

Missionaries Murdered.

London, Nov. 1.—A dispatch from Hongkong, China, states that it is reported that five American missionaries have been murdered at Lian-Choo. No details of the affair have been received. Lian-Choo is situated in the province of Kwang-Tung, 240 miles southwest of Canton, and has a population of about 12,000.

Postoffice Robbed.

Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 1.—Yeggs made a clean up at the despatch postoffice five miles east of here early this morning. About $500 in stamps and money was secured by the safe blowers. The job is supposed to have been done by the same gang that has operated in a number of the near-by towns and villages in the past month.

Lost His Head.

Helsingfors, Finland, Nov. 1.—During a demonstration today the commander of a Cossack patrol lost his head and ordered his men to fire on the people engaged in the disturbance Thirty-one persons were injured by the volley.

Red flags are flying from many buildings today, including some of the government offices, and a state of unrest prevails. At noon the employes of the gas and electric light plants struck and the police force likewise joined the strikers. Following the demonstration of the people made yesterday that all the State employes should resign, a number of Senators, who did not announce their willingness to give up their positions last night, today sent in their resignations. A demonstration was made at the Governor General's residence last night, and as a result all the Senators acceded to the demand of the multitude and said they would resign.

Norway Recognized.

Christiania, Norway, Nov. 1—The independence of Norway as a separate nation has been recognized by both Japan and Germany. Notes setting forth this fact have been received from the two governments mentioned.

The Interdicted Play.

New York, Nov. 1.—The trial of Arnold Daly, and his company of players on charges of misdemeanor for producing George Bernard Shaw's play, "Mrs. Warren's Profession," was adjourned this morning until November 9, at 2 o'clock. Manager Gompert said in speaking of the case: "We are going to make a fight for the further production of this play. No attempt has ever been made to prohibit the publication of the play nor have the postal authorities tried to have it forbidden in the United States mails. We will insist on a thorough adjudication of the play."

New York Stock Market.

New York, Nov. 1.—The stock market missed the European inspiration. In the absence of arbitrage business early trading was influenced wholly by the professional element. The active traders generally assumed disquieting tone of the cables from St. Petersburg and the unsettled developments in local politics favor the bear side and these traders were sellers. There were many good local buying orders in the market in special issues. Later the market became stronger and many of the early declines were recovered.

MISS ROOSEVELT'S GIFTS.

Some highly interesting gossip about Miss Alice Roosevelt's much-discussed Oriental presents, which are now on their way from San Francisco to Washington, is given by a member of the party that made the trip to the Orient with the President's daughter. In the first place, it was said that while the pecuniary value of the gifts has been monstrously exaggerated, they are fine enough to make any girl green with envy.

For one thing, unless Miss Roosevelt is very, very generous, she will not have to buy material for summer gowns or ball dresses for many years to come. The Dowager Empress of China gave her 12 bolts of embroidered crepe in every shade known to the dyer's art. Then she has bolt after bolt of fine embroidered cambric and linen, beautiful enough for an empress's lingerie. She has dozens of web-like lace and embroidered silk stockings and parasols of all colors with jeweled handles and lace covers, and there are fans enough to stock a store.

But things to wear are only one portion of these rare gifts. Some of the most gorgeous are screens, small pieces of furniture, and draperies for the walls, windows and doors. These Miss Roosevelt intends to use and some of the furnishings of her bedroom and boudoir are being removed. Some of the screens are masterpieces of Oriental art, and no doubt these will be placed in the state parlors, where they may be admired this winter. It is also stated that, owing to their value and uniqueness, the President will present them to the White House to become part of the historic possessions of the mansion. Some of the draperies are equally costly and may share the same fate.

Miss Roosevelt received two handsome dower chests, one from the Dowager Empress and the other from the Philippines. She is being much chaffed about these treasures by her young friends, who regard this as an omen of approaching marriage. The President's daughter will wear some glorious strings of jade beads this winter, the gift of the Mikado, and her stock of jewelry will be increased by a pearl ring from the Sultan of Sulu, bracelets and pendants from the Emperor of China, and many curious and costly ornaments for her hair. It is asserted, however, by those who ought to know that the gifts contain but few jewels.

Nearly all the souvenirs are typical of the countries in which she traveled and mementos of her sojourn among these hospitable peoples. The Empress of Japan sent her the dainty little tea set used for her entertainment, and the gifts from Pekin contained many of the dainty porcelain ornaments which adorned her rooms.

As regards the duty, the White House family has made no estimate and is awaiting results philosophically. The dress fabrics come under the 60 per cent. duty, but the scenes and works of art, being antiques, are on the free list. If the President decides that only the articles of apparel should be kept by his daughter and the remainder of the souvenirs presented to the White House, it is likely that the entire consignment will be given free entry.

Bomb in a Tenement.

Twenty-five families in a tenement on Leroy street, New York, were thrown into a panic late last night when a dynamite bomb with a fuse lighted and about to explode was found in a hallway on the second floor. The discovery was made by a woman, who was passing through the hall, and at first, when she saw the fuse sputtering, she thought that somebody had fired the building. She quickly alarmed the janitor, who divined what it was and roused all the tenants, who fled in terror to the street. John Skelly, a watchman, prevented an explosion by severing the fuse, which by that time was within an inch of the bomb, with a knife. A policeman carried the infernal machine to the stationhouse, where it was immersed in a pail of water.

The committee to whom was referred the question of securing greater religious liberty for the naval cadets at Annapolis, made a report today to the Presbyterian Synod of Virginia, which is now in session in Richmond. It is asserted that the midshipmen have little or no liberty in the choice of the church which they may attend on Sunday. The report states that the committee found great difficulty in getting any consideration of the subject from the Secretary of the Navy or any of the other officials. The report recommended that the effort in this direction should be continued. A committee was appointed to continue the agitation of this question and to make report to the next meeting of the synod.

TELEGRAPHIC BREVITIES.

Clinton Hulce, aged 33 years, a son of Police Captain E. P. Hulce, was found dead at the botton of an elevator shaft of the Jefferson Hotel, Richmond, Va., at 1 o'oclock today. It is presumed he fell through the shaft from the floor above.

Samuel Kramer, for 15 years manager of "Little Hungary," the restaurant at 259 east Houston street, New York, who was a personal friend of President Roosevelt, and who was known to thousands of patrons, died suddenly at five o'clock this morning after having attended a wedding festivity.

Small fires in the poor quarters in the northeastern part of Paris, early this morning, caused the death of two persons. They were overcome by the smoke and burned to death before they could be rescued.

Public Speaking.

Mr. Charles Bendheim, chairman of the city democratic committee, announces that Senator Martin and other prominent speakers will address the citizens of Alexandria at the Opera House on Friday evening next, November 3.

The Meeting Last Night.

A large crowd gathered at the Opera House last night where speeches were delivered by Secretary of the Treasury Shaw and Mr. R. W. Blair. Mr. W. P. Shelley, of Alexandria county, presided, and on the stage were Messrs John B. Henderson, Thomas Burroughs, Alonso Wolford, J. K. Swartz, Charles King, F. M. Phillips, Horace Swartz, Thomas Bayne, Donald Aitcherson, J. A. Eggborn, Paul Hulfish, Worth Hulfish, W. H. P. Kelley, United States Marshal Morgan Treat, and R. W. Blair.

A band from Washington discoursed fine music.

About 8 o'clock the palace car Mount Vernon arrived in front the Opera House with Mr. Shaw and others, including several ladies.

After all had entered and the band had discoursed "Dixie," "The Suawanee River," My Maryland" and other southern airs, Mr. Park Agnew called the assembly to order and introduced Mr. Shelley, who had been selected to preside. He spoke a few minutes after which he introduced Mr. Blair, who also made a brief speech, in which he repeated substantially what had been said by other republican speakers on the same stage a few weeks ago. Free school books, pure election laws, etc., were the burden of his utterances.

Secretary Shaw followed Mr. Blair. He spoke about two hours, during which time he made comparisons between democratic and republican principals, referring to many incidents in the history of both parties during the past third of a century. He seemed to despair of being able to proselyte democrats who have remained in the ranks of the party in good and evil report and who will continue to follow its fortunes, but made many appeals to the younger members of his audience to pay attention to his defense of the republican doctrine of protective tariff. The speaker was mild mannered in all his utterances, condemned no one, praised those who wore the gray as well as those who were arrayed against them and alluded to the valor of both in the Spanish war. While the Secretary said nothing but what had substantially been said and written during the past decade, the pleasant manner of his utterances, his careful use of words and slow and forceful manner of impressing his audience were enjoyed by all, including the large number of democrats present. The Secretary enlisted close attention. There was nothing unseemly during the time he spoke, and the order maintained was similar to that in a well managed theatre.

The meeting adjourned about 10:40 o'clock, when the palace car Mount Vernon moved up and took the Secretary and his party aboard and was soon on its way to Washington.

River Notes.

The inspection of the steamer Charles Macalester took place recently and she was found to be in excellent condition.

The tug Minerva, owned by Georgetown parties, will, it is stated, leave very shortly for Solomon's Island, Md., where she will be rebuilt.

The bugeye R. H. Stuart, hailing from Alexandria, has been sold by her owner, Capt. Alley Reed, of Westmorelond county, to Mr. Thomas, of Washington. The Stuart is a vessel of seventeen tons register, is 56.3 feet long and was built at Stratford, on the Potomac, in 1897, and has never been employed in any but the Potomac trade. The new owner of the bugeye will continue her at work on the river.

The schooner Nettie, owned by parties in Alexandria, is at the shipyard, to be supplied with new sails and to be calked and otherwise repaired. The Nettie was damaged on a recent trip from Philadelphia to Washington with a cargo of hard coal by running ashore in the Delaware and Chesapeake canal.

The pungy Shining Light, Capt. Keith Davis, which has been on the marine railway for several days past, will, in addition to the other work to be done to her, be fitted with a new foremast and a new suit of canvas.

As heretofore stated the burned hulk of the old ferry steamer Columbia, which had been lying here for the past two years has been sold by the Norfolk and Washington Steamboat Company to a Washington club, which, it is stated, will fit the old craft up for sporting purposes. The Columbia is now at the wharf foot of N street, Washington, having her engine, boiler and other machinery taken out, and when this is done a new house will be built on her. The house will be a roomy one and will be steam heated and lighted by electricity, and rumor says will often be the scene of boxing contests. She will be taken to a point on the river below this city and anchored and when a "mill" is to take place the patrons will be taken to the old boat in launches. It is stated the hull sold for $700.

Reopening of the Ferry.

The new ferry steamer Woodbury started on her regular schedule between Alexandria and Washington at 6 o'clock this morning. The fog on the river at the time materially interfered with the trip, and threw the steamer off time in making some subsequent runs. The patronage was liberal from the start, and there is every reason to believe it will steadily increase. Yesterday at noon in entering her slip the Woodbury bent the southern leg of the pier, and last night inflicted similar damage to the northern wing. The slip in Washington was also damaged this morning while the boat was entering it through the fog. These mishaps will in no way interfere with the running of the boat. One of the chains supporting the floating slip was broken early this morning, and no wagons were taken aboard until it was repaired.

Mr. W. J. Wilson, soliciting agent of the Norfolk and Washington Steamboat Company, was in the city today, and while here he visited a majority of merchants and consulted with them in regard to the requirements upon the new steamer for the carrying of freight. He learned from the merchants that they desired to ship freight in packages, and after having ascertained their wants, Mr. Wilson called at this office and stated that the company would make arrangements as soon as possible to accommodate shippers of all classes of freight. He expressed his appreciation of the manner in which Alexandrians hailed the arrival of the new ferry steamer.

Hallowe'en Party.

The Golf Club House, on Shooter's hill, was the scene of a very brilliant gathering of young folks last night, the occasion being a Hallowe'en party given by seven of the younger members and chaperoned by Mrs. D. J. Howell. The guests were received at a large bon-fire built some distance from the house, the hosts and hostesses appearing in the guise of departed spirits. Little bits of paper were distributed which directed the guests where to find their fortunes. These caused much merriment, as they were both bad and good. Supper was served on the north end of the porch which had been inclosed for the occasion, and, like the reception room, decorated with stalks of corn, autumn leaves and pumpkin jack-o'-lanterns. After supper a number of informal games were played and then, as usual on such occasions, lights were lowered and a number of weird and wonderful ghost stories were told. The party did not break up till a late hour, the jolly crowd seeming loth to leave. A number of out-of-town guests were present.

Assaulted and Robbed.

Miss Mamie T. Devitt, a music teacher, who lives at 824 Duke street, was assaulted and robbed by a negro about 8 o'clock last night, on Patrick street, a short distance south of King. Miss Devitt carried a handbag, which the assailant managed to secure, but not before he knocked Miss Devitt down. The negro took about $18 from the bag. Several women who were nearby screamed for help, and in a short while the man was being pursued by a crowd, but he disappeared in the direction of the Southern Railway freight yards. Miss Devitt is suffering from nervous shock, caused by the occurrence. She had left an electric railway train at King and Henry streets and was on her way home when assaulted and robbed. The police are making every effort to identify the negro. The bag which had contained the money taken by the thief was found early this morning near the ice house on the Southern Railway, a short distance west of this city. It was turned over to Officer Young.

Personal.

Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Dishman have returned from Herndon where they spent the past several months.

Congressman J. F. Rixey and family have returned to Washington from their home in Culpeper county.

Miss Alice Selden, of Baltimore, is visiting Miss Grace Anderson, on Washington street.

Misses Lena and Pearl Craven entertained the R. P. Club last night at their home on south Lee street which was attended by quite a number of young folks. After hours spent in games and fortune telling the guests were invited to the dining room where a bountiful table was laden all the delicacies of the season which were enjoyed by all, and soon afterward the young people wended their way homeward much pleased with the event.

Police Court.

The following cases were disposed of this morning.

John Sims, arrested by Officers Knight and Arrington charged with drunken and disorderly conduct, was dismissed.

George Jones, colored, arrested by Officers Beach, Lyles and Garvey charged with drunken and disorderly conduct, was fined $5.

George Jones, colored, arrested by Officers Beach, Lyles and Garvey charged with assaulting and beating Maria Knight, was fined $10.

Lewis Carrington, colored, arrested by Officer Allen charged with disorderly conduct, was dismissed.

Death of Mr. Chunn.

Mr. John Henry Chunn died yesterday at the Maryland Line Confederate Soldiers' Home, Pikesville. By profession Mr. Chunn was a civil engineer. He was born in St. Mary's county March 27, 1839. During the civil war he went South, and in 1862 enlisted at Richmond in Company B, Second Maryland Infantry. In 1872 he went to Costa Rica where he was made division engineer on the railroad then being constructed. He will be kindly remembered by the Alexandrians and other Virginians with whom he was associated in that country.

For the Defendant.

In the Corporation Court yesterday evening in the case of E. A. Gorman versus the Southern Railway Company, a suit for $1,500 for the killing of a horse, damages to a buggy and alleged personal injuries to the plaintiff, the jury brought in a verdict for the defendant. The case was submitted to the jury without argument or instructions. The company was represented by Mr. C. C. Carlin and the plaintiff by Mr. J. M. Johnson.

W. C. T. U.

The regular business meeting of the Allison W. C. T. U. will be held tomorrow (Thursday) afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Children's Home, on Duke street. The ladies of the union and friends of the home are invited to come at 2 o'clock for the purpose of sewing for the children, and to bring supper so as to stay until after prayer-meeting, which will be held at 7:30 as usual.

Charter.

The corporation commission has granted a charter to the Faulkner Music Company, inc., of Rosslyn. Incorporators: James A. Faulkner, president, Washington, D. C.; Emile E. Mori, secretary, Washington, D. C. Capital stock: Maximum, $15,000; minimum, $1,000. Objects and purposes: To own, buy and sell copyrights and music in the United States and foreign countries.

Saved by Dynamite.

Sometimes, a flaming city is saved by dynamiting a space that the fire can't cross. Sometimes, a cough hangs on so long, you feel as if nothing but dynamite would cure it. Z. T. Gray, of Calhoun, Ga., writes: "My wife had a very aggravated cough, which kept her awake nights. Two physicians could not help her; so she took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, which eased her cough gave her sleep, and finally cured her." Strictly scientific cure for bronchitis and La Grippe. At E. S. Leadbeater & Sons' drug store, price 50c and $1.00; guaranteed. Trial bottle free.

J. Stanley Neale.

Died October 2, 1905, in Alexandria, Va., J. Stanley Neale, aged 61 years. Mr. Neale was born and raised in King William county, but lived many years in Alexandria, where, up to a short time before his death, he was engaged in the publication of the Morning Call. His health failing he was forced to discontinue this paper and came on a visit to his old home, hoping the fresh air of the country and a rest amid the associations and surroundings of his youth might strengthen and renew the failing source of life, but all in vain, and he has fallen another victim to the great reaper, leaving behind a son, a faithful wife and many many friends and relatives, whose hearts will grieve that they will feel the warmth and brightness of his presence no more.

By his intellectuality, honest worth and sterling traits of character, he won many warm friends in the city of his adoption; while at his old home a host of relatives and friends will always cherish the memory of his generous and unselfish nature. He loved life. Was of broad and cultured mind and with a bright and cheerful disposition he wrought his part in the sphere in which his lot was cast, without an envious thought or feeling at the prosperity of his neighbor; a quality which is an ornament to the highest and noblest life and character. Faithful to his friends, to duty and his obligations to others. When he felt the sands of his life were running low he insisted on returning to Alexandria and though hardly able to stand upon his feet he used the last hours of his life in closing up his earthly affairs; discharging all his obligations and with faithful loving care arranging every detail and business matter, in order to lighten, as far as he could, the burden and care of those he loved and would leave behind.

Though he had not lived in the county for a long time, he was true and faithful to the church he loved and of which he had been a member some forty years. It was there his sleeping form and silent lips spoke to us the last sad admonition of the hour and it was from there he was borne with loving hearts and hands and laid by the side of his gentle, loving mother in the house appointed for all living.

In life his nature was full of poetry and of song and it seems fitting, indeed, that he should have been laid to rest on a sweet and calm October day, when autumn hues had tinged the leafy wood and nature in her bright and beautiful array, through the softened rays of a declining sun reflected the glories of a coming day; and glad comfort to the sorrowing heart, though the rising of the Son of Righteousness with new brightness and glory and 'healing in His beams' and who will bring deliverance from the age of death and the grave. Let us say to the troubled heart, "Peace be still," and be comforted by the faithful promise of a resurrection to life again through Him who hath abolished death and brought life and immortality to light through the Gospel until then.

"Father in thy gracious keeping
Leave we now our dear friend sleeping."

Memorial.

Written by J. Stanley Neale in contemplation of his death, which occured a short time afterwards.

Low a voice of Heaven speaketh,
"God, thy maker—I am he,
Make thy bed beneath the grasses
Thy life is required now of thee,
Leave thy luggage, traps and plunder.
I would pass thee through the night,
Lay thee low as I will guard thee
'Till shall dawn a better light,"

Low a vesper, low its whisper
How it mingles with a sigh,
It would answer "God of Heaven
Its thy creature—Here am I.
I have laid my baggage yonder,
I have bade the world good bye,
Though not ready for thy keeping
Though not ready—Here am I"

I can wait thy morning splender
Rising from a crystal sea,
I can wait thy trumpet sounding
Rise thou righteous—"Come to me."
But O Lord, O Host of Heaven
Am I sure "'Twill sound for me?"
Not a mite or talent added,
Wilt thou call? O call for me!

Speak, O love, O God of mercy,
Speak unto the life'ess clay,
Say You'll cleanseit in Thy keeping
For Thy bright and "perfect Day."
Lay me low now 'neath the grasses,
Shut me from the other light
Bid me friends who yet are faithful
Once for all a long good night.

WEDNESDAY EVENING, NOV. 1, 1905.

Refused Physician's Aid.

Fulton, the populous eastern suburb of Richmond, is astir over the second death in the family of Mrs. Nannie J. Palmer, who, it is stated, depended upon faith and prayer to cure her child and would not employ a physician. The child had diphtheria, and the members of her household prayed over the child, but it died.

Mrs. Palmer is a stanch member of the "Apostolic" Church, founded by Rev. J. W. Daughety, a former Baptist minister. While not connected with Christian Science, Mr. Daughety's teachings are said to be of a somewhat similar kind, and "the Apostles" believe in prayer and faith as the only cure for human ills and disease.

The little boy was taken sick Thursday. His condition was serious Friday and, although neighbors pleaded with Mrs. Palmer to employ medical aid, she would send for no one but her pastor. He came and prayed over the child and the church members urged her to stand by her faith.

Saturday, when the boy was evidently dying, Mrs. Palmer called in Dr. Barksdale. Learning of the widow's nearly destitute condition he secured $20 worth of antitoxin from the city Board of Health and administered it, but it was too late. Mrs. Palmer has four other children, all of whom are threatened with the same disease, and Dr. Barksdale pleaded without avail with the mother to be allowed to inoculate the children with antitoxin.

Rev. Mr. Daughety, recognizing the danger, gave his permission for the use of the remedy, but Mrs. Palmer shook her head and said she "would stand firm." Stephen Palmer, husband of Mrs. Palmer, died a year ago of pneumonia and blood poisoning, nothing having been done for him except the prayers of the "apostles."

The child was buried Sunday privately by the Board of Health, the authorities not permitting Rev. Mr. Daughety to hold the services of his church over the body because of the danger of infection.

The Board of Health will fumigate the Palmer home.

Mrs. Nannie Palmer yesterday summoned Dr. George E. Barksdale and consented to the inoculation of the remaining children with antitoxin. It is believed that one or more of the remaining children will die of the disease.

FOR OVER SIXTY YEARS

AN OLD AND WELL-TRIED REMEDY.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used for over sixty years by millions of mothers for their children while teething with perfect success. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic and is the best remedy for Diarrhoea. Is pleasant to the taste. Sold by druggists in every part of the world. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Its value is incalculable. Be sure and ask for Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup and take no other kind.

Could Not be Better.

The uniform success of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy has won for it a wide reputation and many people throughout the country will agree with Mr. Chas. W. Mattison, of Milford, Va., who says: "It works like magic, and is the best preparation I know of. It couldn't be any better." He had a serious attack of dysentery and was advised to try a bottle of this remedy, which he did, with the result that immediate relief was obtained. For sale by Gibson & Timberman and W. F. Creighton & Co.

A Liquid Cold Cure.

A Cough Syrup which drives a cold out of the system by acting as a cathartic on the bowels is offered in Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar. Clears the throat, strengthens the lungs and bronchial tubes. The mother's friend and the children's favorite. Best for Croup, Whooping-Cough, etc. A liquid cold cure and the only Cough Syrup which moves the bowels and works all cold out of the system. Sold by W. F. Creighton & Co., 401 King street.

A Creeping Death.

Blood poison creeps up towards the heart, causing death. J. E Stearns, Belle Plaine, Minn., writes that a friend dreadfully injured his hand, which swelled up like blood poisoning. Bucklen's Arnica Salve drew out the poison, healed the wound, and save his life. Best in the world for burns and sores. 25c at E. S. Leadbeater & Sons' drug store.

Nature Needs But Little.

Nature needs only a Little Early Riser now and then to keep the bowels clean, the liver active, and the system free from bile, headaches, constipation, etc. The famous little pills "Early Risers" are pleasant in effect and perfect in action. They never gripe or sicken, but tone and strengthen the liver and kidneys. Sold by W. F. Creighton & Co., 401 King street.

PROPOSALS.

PROPOSALS—Proposals will be received until 2 o'clock p. m., THURSDAY, November 2, 1905, by the Committee on Public Property for the erection of a two-story addition, a tool room and a storage shed to the Columbia Engine House. Plans and specifications can be had at the City Engineer's office.

Right to reject any and all bids is reserved.
